1 Primary Treatment Expectations:

Please note that Kadji Care is a tertiary care facility and rehabilitation service provider. As such, we do not provide primary treatment for medical conditions. If a resident requires primary medical treatment, we recommend seeking appropriate care from a hospital or primary care physician before considering Kadji Care. Our focus is on specialized care and rehabilitation for individuals already receiving primary treatment.

2 Complications and Conditions:

While we strive to provide the best care possible, it's important to acknowledge that complications and conditions may arise during the care process. In such instances, our dedicated physician or medical officer will approach you and discuss the best course of action moving forward. If hospitalization is required, our Kadji Care team will assist family members in the process of transfer to a suitable healthcare facility.

3 Shared Care Model:

At Kadji Care, we operate on a "Shared Care" model. This means that residents admit to our facility will be cared for alongside other residents. We do not provide dedicated one-on-one care where a caregiver is assigned exclusively to an individual resident at all times. It's important to understand that this shared care approach may result in slightly delayed response times to individual resident needs. We believe in creating a supportive community environment where residents interact with each other and receive care from our skilled staff members.

4 Caregiver Deployment:

Please be aware that recruiting, training, and deploying a dedicated caregiver for an individual resident is a lengthy process at Kadji Care. As a result, we do not offer immediate and dedicated caregiver services for each resident. Our team of trained staff members will provide care and assistance to all residents collectively, ensuring their well-being and comfort.

5 Fall Prevention:

At Kadji Care, we prioritize fall prevention and take proactive measures to create a safe environment for our residents. Our staff members are trained in fall prevention strategies, and we implement various safety measures, such as handrails, non-slip flooring, and regular safety checks. However, despite our best efforts, falls may still occur due to various factors, including individual resident conditions, unforeseen circumstances, or accidents. We continuously assess and review our fall prevention protocols to enhance resident safety and minimize fall risks. We shall ensure to take a follow up action needed; but the happening of fall is not always guaranteed.

6 Initial Adjustment Period:

When a resident is admitted to Kadji Care, both the resident and our staff are in the process of getting to know each other. It's important to recognize that this initial adjustment period may require some time for mutual understanding and familiarity to develop. During this phase, it is possible that challenges or issues may arise as we establish effective communication and adapt to individual preferences and needs. We strive to provide the best care and support right from the start, but it's essential to acknowledge that the transition into a new care environment can be a significant change for both the resident and our staff. Each resident is unique, with specific preferences, habits, and communication styles.

Similarly, our staff members need time to become acquainted with individual resident characteristics and preferences. During the initial adjustment period, we encourage open and honest communication between residents, their families, and our care team. This enables us to address any concerns, provide necessary support, and make adjustments to ensure a smoother transition. We value the input and feedback of residents and their families as we work together to create a personalized and comfortable living environment.

7 Time to understand medical conditions:

At Kadji Care, we recognize that each resident comes with their own unique medical history, conditions, and care needs. It's important to understand that it may take some time for our care team to fully comprehend and familiarize themselves with the specific medical conditions of each resident. We are committed to providing personalized and comprehensive care, tailored to the individual needs of our residents. However, gaining a thorough understanding of complex medical conditions requires thorough assessments, medical records review, and consultations with the resident's primary health-care providers. This process may take some time to ensure accurate and informed care planning.

8 Missing Home:

While we strive to create a warm and welcoming environment that feels like a second home, it is important to acknowledge that residents may still experience moments of homesickness. Adjusting to a new living arrangement, being away from long-time residences, and being surrounded by unfamiliar faces can contribute to these feelings. We value open communication and encourage residents to express their emotions and share their concerns with our care team. Our dedicated staff members are trained to provide emotional support, engage residents in meaningful activities, and foster a sense of community within Kadji Care. We encourage family members to stay involved and maintain regular contact to provide additional support and reassurance during this transition period.

9 We shall not be able to consider opinions from multiple family members:

We greatly value family involvement and encourage open dialogue among relatives, but when it comes to official instructions, we kindly request that the primary guardian be the designated point of contact. This approach enables us to address concerns, make informed decisions, and provide consistent care based on a unified and reliable source of information.

10 Individual Taste Preferences and Dietary Instructions:

While we strive to offer a diverse range of meals and accommodate individual preferences to the best of our ability, it is not always possible to cater to everyone's specific taste preferences. Our primary focus is on providing nutritionally balanced meals that meet the dietary requirements and health needs of our residents.

11 Delivery of therapy sessions and care assistance during public holidays:

During public holidays, there therapy sessions shall not be conducted and at the same time due to absenteeism of most team members; care shall be provided with restricted and available resources only.
